Body of Edward Warnock Found Saturday In River Off The Gill Shore

Identity Is Made By Clothing Worn

The body of Edward L. Warnock, who drowned in the Connecticut river on Saturday, Nov. 6, 1937, was found last Saturday afternoon, almost six months later, floating in the same river but caught on the branch of a tree, near the lower ferry site on the Gill shore, some three miles below the place where it is presumed he fell overboard while fishing.

The discovery was made by parties who were in the river in a boat gathering driftwood. They went to Turners Falls and notified the police. The State Police barracks at Shelburne Falls was immediately notified and officer Irving immediately responded. Irving made a partial identification and Herman Miner was summoned, who declared the body as that of Warnock. This was accomplished because of the clothing he had worn, which was still preserved and because of his watch and knife which were found in his pockets. Features were not recognizable because of the battering it had received by the elements and because of the long time in the water.

It is presumed that the body had worked loose from some point up the river and had floated down with the current which running close to the Gill side had again entangled it on the water's surface.

The body was removed by authority of the medical examiner by Undertaker George A. Kidder and immediately prepared for burial. The services were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Center cemetery with Rev. W. W. Coe officiating.

Mr. Warnock who was engaged as a plumber in town and resided in the house at the west end of Bennett Meadow bridge, set out for a fishing trip up the river shortly after two o'clock Saturday afternoon, Nov. 6. In the boat with him was his spaniel dog. Several persons had seen him in the boat during the afternoon, but as the day waned and he had not put in an appearance although the dog had returned home about five o'clock, a search was instituted by friends and State Police, which continued for several days. His boat was found on the shore on the east side about a half mile below his house, and a few days later an oar was found further down the river. Mr. Warnock was given up for lost and that he had drowned while fishing. The long suspense is ended with the finding of the body. He was 38 years of age, and was born in Northampton May 24, 1900, the son of Robert and Margaret Warnock. Surviving are his wife, the former Jennie Miner of Northfield and a daughter, Fay.

She has been visiting colleges in the Connecticut Valley and came to Northfield with the hope of arranging for an exchange of students to Yugoslavia. Robert Hillyer, poet and author, who was scheduled to speak at the Seminary last Saturday evening was forced to cancel his engagement because of illness. Robert Francis of Amherst, rapidly becoming well-known as a poet through his verse in current magazines, very courteously consented to read some of his own work on that evening. Mr. Francis is a friend of Robert Hillyer and also a disciple of Robert Frost. His readings were very entertaining and amusing. He divided his program into two groups, one of nature poems which were extremely clever, and the other of poems on Bible characters which his audience enjoyed tremendously.

NO MORNING SERVICE

No Sunday morning service will be held in Sage Chapel this week. Vespers will be held at usual with the Rev. Robert Russell of Larchmont as the speaker.

Will Fly The Mail For Air Mail Week From Northfield

Northfield will be the only town in Franklin county, whose air mail will be pouched and flown by airplane from a site within the town to the Turners Falls airport and thence on to Boston. All mail from other communities within the county will be delivered at Turners and flown from there. William Heat-on, aeronautics inspector for the state, was in town Tuesday and inspected the Quinlan landing field on the meadows and approved its use for Air Mail week.

According to present plans Postmaster Lawrence Quinlan of the Northfield post office will pilot a plane with the sacks of local mail and carry it to Turners air port where he expects to join in the assemblage of other carriers and fly to Boston. Only such mail as may be carried in the special cachet envelope will be carried on the plane flight. These envelopes may be obtained at any post office within the town.

Air Mail week will be observed from May 15-21. The airplane trip will be made on Thursday, May 19 and the mail received up to six o'clock on the evening of the 18th will be carried. It is expected that a large crowd of folks will witness the flying of the mails from Northfield, about noon on the 19th.

If you have not secured your cachet envelopes, better do so at once as the supply may be exhausted early. The local committees are anxious to make the observance of Air Mail week in Northfield a memorable affair.

Girls Of Seminary Enjoyed Bird Day On Last Tuesday

The girls of Northfield Seminary packed picnic lunches and were off to the mountains and hills surrounding the campus soon after Bird Day, traditional spring holiday, was announced on Tuesday morning. Miss Wilson appeared at each of the dormitories during breakfast time with the welcome news of now classes and a holiday for all.

Lusty ringing of the bell in East hall tower proclaimed Bird Day to the townspeople who, for more than half a century, have known the meaning of the sudden outburst of cheering and bell-ringing on the Seminary campus.

One dormitory group spent the day at Laurel Lake in Warwick, another group climbed Mount Monadnock, and another chartered a bus which took them on a tour of nearby schools and colleges including Deerfield academy, Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Amherst and Mass State. The rest of the school went in smaller groups to favorite spots such as the Sunderland cabin on the Ridge, the Seminary reservoir, Hog's Back mountain, Pulpit Rock, Garnet Rock and Wana-maker lake.

Dwight L. Moody began the tradition of having a surprise holiday each spring, usually very early in May, over half a century ago when there were less than 50 students in the Seminary.

Encourage Visitors

A. Gordon Moody, of the Northfield hotel was chosen president of a tri-county organization in Amherst last Monday evening formed to encourage visitors to this section of the state and to advertise its attractions. Mrs. Ernestine Perry of Springfield is secretary. The membership consists of many leading citizens, officials and hotelmen of Franklin, Hampshire and Hampden counties. It is hoped to issue a pamphlet setting forth many reasons why tourists should frequent this section of the state.

The Garden Club

Members of the Northfield Garden club assembled in Alexander hall Monday evening to listen to a fine address by J. P. Edney, 4-H leader on vegetables, their planting and care. Plans for the forthcoming flower show at the town hall probably in June were also discussed and details will be published later. Prof. I. J. Lawrence, president of the club, presided.

THE PLUNDERERS

We gut the earth with a knife of greed,
The lust for profits her entrails need;
Bones of iron and blood of oil,
Torn from the depths of a harried soil.

Clouds of soot where the blue was seen;
Air befouled with gasoline.

Fashioned by fire and the cunning of men
Into playthings fabulous—and then
Cast as scrap on the countryside,
Vast rusting heaps in a mounting tide.

Rusting cans on the wayside grass,
Fern banks cluttered with broken glass.

We smirch our streams in their dwindling flow
'Til far sea reaches their refuse know;
Once-hurried fish, urged on to spawn,
Float, bellies up, with a horde unborn.

A deep pool reeks with a glaze of slime—
A swimming hole, in the olden time.

Roadside orchards with broken boughs,
The clatter of tractors and gangs of ploughs;
Hillsides bare of the laurel's grace
Where orchids gathered; a lonely space.

Friendly hills and smiling meadow
Hidden deep by the billboard's shadow.

Rape and pillage, scour and ravage;
We grabbed our land from a lowly savage.
From the wide gray seas to the highest hill,
A land supine to the plunderer's will.

Treasure stored in a bygone age,
Wasted—Our children's heritage.

Our District Nurse Returns From Study

Miss Euphrasia Purring returned last Saturday from Boston finishing her course at Simmons college. Besides the four months of theory Miss Purring was affiliated in field work through the college with the Community Health association of Boston, with the Southern County Berkshire Health district in Great Barrington, and also with the schools in Reading. She comes back with a certificate in public health nursing, meeting the standards as set up by the National organization of Public Health Nursing.

Miss Purring will reside with Mrs. Simmons on Maple St. She may be reached during her office hours at the town hall 8-9 daily and 4-5 except Saturday afternoons and Sunday.

Sues For Damages

Samuel F. and Louise J. Alexander of the Northfield Farms have filed suits for damages in Superior court, against David F. Hoyt of Athol for $1,000 and $10,000 respectively for alleged damages to the former's car in an accident at the junction of the Millers Falls road and highway 63 on Oct. 4, 1937, and for injuries to Mrs. Alexander, who claims her arm was broken. The plaintiffs contend the Hoyt car was operated negligently and hit the Alexander car.

Republican Women

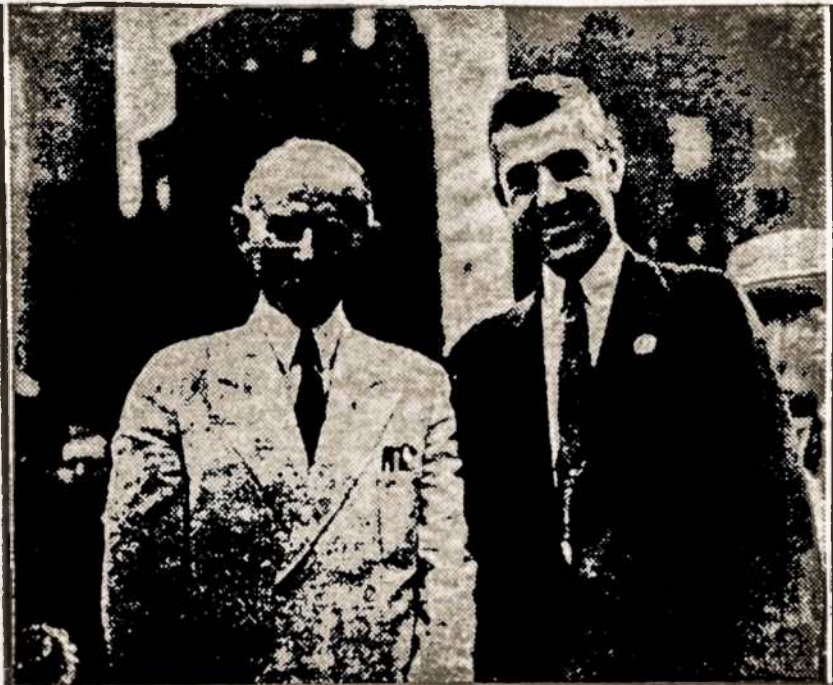

Plans are being made for the annual meeting of the Franklin County Women's Republican club to meet Friday, May 20 at Greenfield. Dinner will be served at the Mansion House at 6 o'clock followed by a series of speeches. The principal speaker will be Senator Sybil Holmes whose talk will also be broadcast over station WHAI, our new radio station. An invitation has been extended to all members attending the meeting by John W. Haigis to visit the radio headquarters in the Mansion House.

Branch Bank Closes

The branch bank of the First National Bank & Trust Co., of Greenfield in the Bookstore building closed last Saturday and the property and records were removed to Greenfield. Mr. Alexander who has served as its Cashier retires for other employment. The bank has endeavored to be of service to its patrons in the community but the support was not sufficient to maintain it. However, every accommodation will be furnished at the principal office in Greenfield which is convenient and in case of necessity the mails can be used. A cordial welcome awaits all who call at the main office.

The town of Buckland is to have a tax rate of $22, which is $6 below the tax rate of last year.

Will They Be Contenders?

John W. Haigis and Leverett Saltonstall are here shown in a happy mood during the last state political campaign when they were the candidates for Governor and Lieut. Governor on the Republican ticket. Mr. Saltonstall has now thrown "his hat into the ring" by announcing himself as a candidate for Governor and word is being expected from Mr. Haigis as to his intentions soon. He recently stated that "Approximately 840,000 and women voted for me in 1936. Mindful of my obligation to them, I will be prepared to state my position on or about June 1."

Many of the political leaders of this section believe that the Republican party's chances of success in this state this fall are better than in many years and that Mr. Haigis' chances of becoming chief executive of the commonwealth are especially bright this year.

The adventurous canoeists, were it is said, from the eastern end of the state and when nearing Hinsdale, passing through the rough water their canoes struck the sharp and ragged rocks and dashed their occupants into the water. They got safely to shore through the water but the entire party discontinued their journey there and it was reported went to Northfield to spend the night.

In the presence of over seventy relatives and friends, Miss Gencie Phyllis Edson and Verne Lyle Capen, both of Vernon, were united in marriage last Sunday afternoon on the lawn at the bride's home by Rev. Ellis E. Jones pastor of the Vernon church. Miss Olivia P. Edson of New York, sister of the bride was bridesmaid and Harland Capen was best man. The bride wore a long peach organdie gown trimmed with harmonizing decorations and the bridesmaid's gown was of blue crepe with trimmings. Both carried bouquets of white flowers. After the ceremony a reception was held and refreshments were served. Many useful and lovely gifts were received by the young couple who will make their home with the groom's parents in Vernon. The couple left by motor for a wedding trip to an unannounced destination the bride wearing a traveling dress of light blue silk crepe and accessories to match. Many guests were present from out of town.

A certain church was in need of a minister, and two candidates, the Rev. Mr. Adam and a Dr. Low, offered to preach. Dr. Low preached in the morning, and took for his text, "Adam, where art thou?" His discourse was pleasing, and the congregation was favorable to him.

Husband: Then what's the use of going?

Officers Are Chosen Scout Troop Committee

The Girl Scout Troop committee held the annual meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Kehl, and the election of officers took place. Mrs. Kehl, who has served as chairman of the committee for the three years of the organization in Northfield, resigned, and Miss Sophie Servaes was elected to that office. Miss Carrie-Jeanette Cook was re-elected as secretary and treasurer. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Kehl for her work with the Scouts.

Miss Mary Dakon was appointed as lieutenant of Troop 2, to replace Mrs. Savchey, who resigned. The following appointments were made: Mrs. Sidney Givens, chairman of finance; Mrs. Fred Bolton, chairman of camping; Mrs. Frank Montague, chairman of transportation and personnel; Mrs. Charles Kehl, chairman of publicity. Miss Priscilla Colton was added to the committee to serve as chairman of badges and awards. Other members of the committee are: Mrs. A. P. Fitt, Miss Euphrasia Purrrington and Mrs. Andrew Savchey.

Folders have been received from Shelter camp, which nineteen Northfield Scouts attended last summer, and some will soon be available from Camp Wiyaka. Any Scouts planning to go to camp this summer are requested to get in touch with Mrs. Bolton.

Plans are being worked on, whereby week-end camping may be made possible at some lake for small groups of Northfield Scouts. Definite announcement of these will be made at a later date.

Some Local Folks On Radio Program

The new radio station WHAI in Greenfield will broadcast an interesting and unique program for boys and girls every Monday at 5:45 p. m., beginning the 10th of May. The program is to be called "Laugh and Learn" and is written and produced by two of our Northfield people. We trust many of our boys and girls will enjoy this program as "Miss Sally" and "Sammy." — "that little bundle of fun and inquisitiveness," bring their funny questions and answers, jokes and stories to entertain you each Monday.

Condolence

Friends in Northfield of both Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Stickney of Brattleboro, were grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Stickney, last Saturday evening at the Brattleboro Memorial hospital after a long illness of cancer. She was born Minnie Amelia Haskins, June 10, 1871, at Brattleboro, the daughter of the late Hiland Haskins and of Ellen (Yeaw) Haskins who survives at the age of 94. She was married to Mr. Stickney, Oct. 12, 1898 and was actively connected with the various women's organizations in Brattleboro, her church activities, and particularly in banking affiliations and the Memorial hospital. Funeral services were held at All Soul's church on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Stickney is connected with the Vermont-People's National bank and many friends here extend to him their deep sympathy in the loss of his wife.

THEY SAY

Glad to see that Mussolini takes the Northfield Press as well as our advice. You will note by the following headlines in the Herald-Tribune that Mussolini is watching that funny little paper-hanger from the Rhine:

"Italy raises arms against Reich just to be sure they stay friends; Fortifying last open places in frontiers, Duce is merely using a highly realistic mode of convincing a highly realistic Fuehrer."

DON'T WORRY UNCLE DAN "The" will not ever tell the truth, Don't bother for a minute, Whatever tale "They" choose to tell Has never truth within it.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

From Radio News: Man is comfortably hanging himself in a closet from a clothes hook; wife cuts him down. Hospital brings him back to life to be haled into court; Judge puts him on probation, and orders him to pay the hospital $42.00. Can't get away from the bills these days. Jump in the river next time, fella.

To gossip is a dirty trick For either age or youth— But I don't care what people say If they don't tell the truth.

EDITORIAL

Announcement is made of the fact that "The Beeches", beautiful estate which the late President Coolidge bought for a permanent home in Northampton for a sum in excess of $30,000 has been recently sold after a few years of vacancy for $13,500 by his widow. The news item must bring home to every property owner the shrinkage of values in his home. Conditions which beset business and all individuals has brought about a "buyers' strike" and without buyers or takers, values must depreciate. In general thinking, property affords no investment, except in the beneficent way that we require a home in which to live and are willing to sacrifice for the comforts which a home can give in our living. Fortunately is he who needs not now to sell, and fortunate is he who can buy at the low prevailing prices.

Most men are appalled at the extent of the present depression. Its effect seems to impress us more than the former depression under the present administration. Some politicians tell us the trouble is with business, that it is the cunning scheme of capitalism. But as unemployment soars and "pump-priming" fails, the discovery must be apparent that the element of fear and uncertainty on the part of the public is causing the slump in business. Not only business, small and large, is hampered by the uncertainties of legislation at Washington but the "common man" is losing that confidence in his national government that makes for success and abundant living. Business is on the downgrade, individuals are filled with fear, there's no use trying to explain it away, Mr. Politician, Mr. President. We are a "forgotten people" to the politicians in Congress, while the President goes "ashin'."

Northfield citizens will welcome to the air, the new broadcasting station, WHAI in Greenfield. Constructed by John W. Haigis and approved by the authorities of government it hopes to begin sending out the other soon. It will be managed by a large staff of experienced men and will be expected to produce profitable financial results. It is not a charitable enterprise. It will render a service but must pay its way. Its programs must be of sufficient merit to interest its hearers. It must have the confidence and loyalty of all. The editor of the Press extends congratulations and wishes a successful career for station WHAI. As we go to press, we remain advised as to when the broadcasting will be inaugurated.

thing to do if you want real satisfaction is to draw out to scale your home grounds and all the buildings. Actually make a definite plan of what you want to do. Place every tree, shrub, or flower bed right on this design. Otherwise you are going to be putting in and digging out plants and shrubs every few years. You are going to have phlox growing up through shrubs and all sorts of predicaments.

So when you've got a hundred years, more or less, in which to develop these grounds, why not do a little planning before-hand, and then you'll have something that will give you a lot more satisfaction when you are through.

Do you know that . . . The first ferry in New England and probably in America was operated between Charlestown and Wimsimmet (Chelsea) as early as 1635 . . . the first bridge, the Charles River bridge, from Old Ferry Landing to Charlestown, completed in 1786, was considered the greatest enterprise undertaken in America . . . In Puritan days families of fifteen to twenty children were the common quota . . . Boston at first included within its government the islands of the harbor, Muddy River (Brookline), Wimsimmet (Chelsea), Mount Wollaston (Braintree), Randolph and Quincy . . . The entire peninsula of Boston was bought by the townspeople in 1634 from William Blackston for £30 . . . Paul Revere was a statesman, industrial pioneer, silversmith, engraver, dentist and printer; manufacturer of gun-powder, had a copper-rolling mill, and carved wooden frames for the artist Copley's most beautiful paintings . . . News travelled so slowly that it used to take a whole month to get in returns of a state election. . . . When the old Colony Railroad was put through as far as Plymouth and the company wanted to carry the line on to Provincetown, Cape Cod refused to let it, saying that the old stage coach was fast enough for them and "Furriners would be stowing down in the cars" . . . The state planning board's report on Blackstone Valley shows that river one of the most completely developed industrially in the world. . . . The cost of living in Massachusetts is 13 per cent less than in 1929 and 28 per cent less than in 1920.

Against Pump-Priming

Directors of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' associations have sent to members of Congress from this state a resolution opposing the proposed expenditure of billions of dollars for "pump-priming" and asked for a reduction in cost of government so that "our citizens and our industry may be released from a substantial part of the burden now constituting the greatest barrier toward permanent recovery."

At the same time the directors urged continuance of the "existing work relief program to the minimum degree necessary to supplement the direct relief program of the several states and assure adequate care of those actually in need."

"Taxpayers generally are convinced," the resolution read, "that depressions will recur until demands upon them for the
